But it is not | merely the press which sends its delegations of olive branch bearers to our shores. Amongst the arrivals by the Baltic we see that of the Hon. Robert Lowe, Vice President of the Board of Trade, one of the most talented and popular members of the lower house of Parliament, and up to the last six months one of the principal writers for the Times. Considering the high official position which he holds, this visit of Mr. Lowe may be regarded as one of high State policy.

The tone of the Times, taken in connection with that of some of the leading members of the goverament, indicates that there is some powerful revolution of sentiment at work in the Palmerston Cabinet on the subject of its foreign policy, but more especially in regard to the position which the present administration occupies towards the United States. The remarkable speech recently made by Mr. Disraeli in the House of Commons on the Monroe doctrine, and the modified tone of Lord Palmerston on the Crampton affair, may be taken Oct. 7.—Em na, for Hong Kong.
